

Problem Statement

HR managers often face challenges in gaining timely and actionable insights from human resources data due to fragmented information sources and lack of visual analytics tools. This limitation hinders their ability to monitor workforce trends, assess employee demographics, and make data-driven decisions regarding hiring, retention, and compensation. A centralized, interactive dashboard is needed to consolidate key HR metrics and enable both high-level overviews and detailed employee-level analysis.